OCCUPATIONS

Henry and his Mom are planning his birthday party. They make a list of guests, write the invitations and get them in the post. The Post Man delivers them and the fun begins as we see how everyone gets ready to celebrate Henry's 5th birthday.

There are trips to the supermarkets, grocery stores and even a village market. Preparations are well under way when disaster strikes – leaking pipes in the hair dressing salon which are sorted out in no time by the Plumber.

But worse is still to come – the gardener has decided to burn the garden refuse and a fire threatens to end all the festivities! The fire brigade come to the rescue and although the party venue has to be changed the chefs from the local restaurant save the day. Finally all that is left is the big “Clean- Up”.

Delightful characters, music and scenery will enthrall young audiences. Children will actively participate and be made aware of the many people who help us in our everyday lives.
